

Workshop: ‘Dealing with uncertainty in the boardroom’

Risk is now a ‘boardroom responsibility’ according to a new BDO report on the Global Risk Landscape. Boards must take responsibility for risk as future uncertainty.

Uncertainty, both political and economic, is inherent in the new commercial environment.

Boards are expected to make decisions and deliver certainty to shareholders, employees and customers. This to display confident leadership and competent management.

A one-day programme on ‘managing uncertainty’ offers observations on:

- Causes of uncertainty - knowledge gaps & ‘domains of ignorance’
- Types of uncertainty - from unknown-knowns to known-unknowns.
- Reducing uncertainty - mitigating risk and calculating future outcomes.
- Behavioural economics - cognitive bias and the ‘wisdom of boards’
- Ambiguity management - perceptions and preferences in the board.
- Reasoned rationality - creating a balanced and objective consensus.

Who should attend

Directors of Corporate Strategy, Policy or Long-range Planning
 Directors of Business Development, Market Research and Foresight
 Directors of Risk, Compliance or Business Assurance
 Non-Executive Directors, Governors, Trustees and board advisors.

Date : 19 October 2017

Venue: Worshipful Company of Information Technologists, London, EC1A 7JN

Delegate fee: £600 plus VAT

Booking instructions: email to training@samiconsulting.co.uk